base was at his command. When the paternal Smith departed this When the paternal Smith departed this life he was possessed of a proficiency of this world's goods which furnished ample means for his progeny, two sons, to enter the world in good shape or enter into business arrangements for the further accumulation of cash. James Henry Smith invested his legacy in good, large interest paying securities, and resolved to take life case, avoiding the perplayities incident. sy, avoiding the perplexities incident to business life; shortly afterwards a marriage consummated with a wealthy widow made everything in the future lovely for

John quickly accepted the offer, and at once entered on a prosperous business ca-mutual agreement. Vernon had reached the allotted point of human life, seventy years, and wished to close out the business, that some younger man might take his place. Smith also decided to sell out and retire, having all the property he desired to be encumbered with.

out of water; without employment he become suicidally inclined. An elaborate will was drawn, in the which was bequeathed to certain chariable institutions vast sums; this accomplished, the means of eliminating an un-profitable existence were diligently stud-ied—the Newgate Calendar, Sylvanus Blobb's stories, Mrs. Croly's Family Receipt Book, and other standard authorities were carefully examined. Nothing was found to suit the case; a speedy taking off was the first requirement. Professor Blobb was consulted as to the most wreck that impeded navigation on Jersry Flats. After profound consideration the Professor recommended a hollow iron spheroid, filled with fulminate of mercury and nitro-glycerine. A fifty pound bomb was deemed sufficient for the purpose in-dicated, and the Professor agreed, to have it ready at a certain day, with all the electrical appliances necessary to explode it when placed in position. Smith was happy. Here was an easy

By procuring a boat, taking in the death disponser, proceeding to some sceluded locality, then discharging cargo and boat into such infinitissimal pieces as would defy recognition by the most ex-pert coroner in New York or King's At the appointed time the torpedo care-fully packed in saw-dust was delivered to

A boat having previously been bought, received its freight, and Smith applied the oars faithfully until a secluded nock in Rayton Burgers, the secluded nock in Raritan Bay was found. Here the anchor was thrown over and the preliminaries of the dread event arranged. For the firing, a magnetic machine had been selected, such us used by the physicians for nerrons diseases. It was thought that amply suf-ficient electricity could be generated for the desired purpose; forty fathoms of in-sulated wire had been provided, but Smith cut off the most of this and threw it over poard as entirely superfluous for the occasion. In reuniting the several parts the insulated outside was brought in close contact, but the copper core had no connection : so all being in readings Smith said his prayers, and commenced to turn the crank, but the more he turned the less came the explosion; after working the machine to its full power for an hour and a half, he pulled out the wires, threw them and the electrical machine overboard, and pulled back to New York. Arriving at a late hour of the night at one of the ferry slips, he was arrested as a suspected dock-slips, he was arrested as a suspected dock-thief, lodged in the station house over night, and only obtained liberty the next morning by lobbying with the clerk of the court before whom he was brought, who gratofully recommended him to join the ing if he intended to continue in the lightering business, The boat was found after much search, with the cargo intact; the bomb, being under the seat, escaped the lynx eyes of the thieves' confederates, the policemen. Professor Bloth immediately received a visit Smith is no mild the processor ricits of the both immediately received a visit. Smith is no mild terms denominated Blobb a humbug. Blobb retaliated, affirming, "Das bon vas good as enough to plow up dwenty sheeps." Blobb promised to investigate the cause of the difficulty and report immediately.

Smith departed, but was not satisfied.

As he was turning out of the street on which was the chemist's horntory, a concussion of the air and a heavy detonation caused him to quickly turn about. The Professor's house was rising and being dis-seminated throughout the neighborhood. Here was a chance for the desired consum-mation missed to Smith; the thought was most harrowing. If he had but remained with his pyrotechnical friend for ten minutes his troubles would have been ended. Rushing back to the crater's mouth a scene f wholesale and retail destruction was visible. A large crowd was rapidly assem-bled, and every possible effort made to re-cover the bodies of Professor Blobb and

Two coroners hearing of the fact, arrived on the spot at the same time; a fight ensued for the ensued for the ensanguined remains; at the end of the thirty-fourth round, it was discovered that while the fight was progressing, another coroner had stolen away the leg and was then engaged in holding an inquest on it. What Can the Girls Do? There are many noble examples of what girls often perform, when poverty holds its meager mantle over them, of which the its meager mantle over them, of which the following is an instance:...

A Cincianati press states that three yes a sgo a poor orphan girl applied and was admitted to set type for that paper.

She worked two years, during which time she earned ibesides her board, about $200; and availing herself of the facilities which the printing office afforded, acquired a good education. She is now an associate editress of a popular paner, and is ed a good education. Such a now an asse-ciate editress of a popular paper, and is engaged to be married to one of the smartest lawyers in Ohio. Such a girl is bound to shine and eclipse tens of thou-sands who are educated in the lap of lux-COOKING of the boarding school. Such a wife will be a jewel to her husband, an ornament to society, and an honor to her sex and her country.

STOVE,

Among his other high sounding titles the King of Ava has that of "Lord of Twenty-four Umbrellas." This looks as though he had prepared for a long reign. A man in Vienna owns a spaniel, which he shears as regularly as a sheep, and the fleece is sufficient to keep a man and a boy in nice, soft, warm stockings through the year. That's the kind of a dog to A singular sight was witnessed at Halifax on a recent morning—the sun, moon and stars all visible at one time. This is seldom witnessed in these latitudes, thouge new common in the Mediterrane-an and Pacific. Great Reduction!

It is now about time for reports of suffocation from coal gas. Persons desirous of having their names in the paper in such a connection have only to shut ventilation and take the cover off from their stoves or
